

Federal Judge Bars Gov't From Turning Girard Over To Japanese For Trial

Says Action Would Violate Rights In Constitution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy today barred the government from turning William S. Girard over to the Japanese government for a manslaughter trial.

McGarraghy said "the proposed delivery" of the soldier to the Japanese government "would violate rights . . . guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and will be enjoined."

The government has indicated that it will appeal the case. Under this type of ruling it has a right to take it directly to the U. S. Supreme Court.

McGarraghy delivered his ruling just one week from the day the case was argued in his court.

Assign Wright, Reynolds to Appellate Courts

Two judges from the First Judicial circuit now hold appellate judgeships as a result of an order entered Thursday by the Supreme Court of Illinois.

The judges are C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna and Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale, who earlier this month were re-elected to six-year terms as circuit judges in the First Judicial circuit, of which Saline county is a part. The new appointments, which are for three years, do not interfere with the work on the circuit court bench.

Judge Reynolds was reassigned as judge of the appellate court for the Third Appellate district of Illinois, which convenes in Springfield.

Judge Wright was assigned as appellate court judge for the Second Appellate district, which convenes at Ottawa.

Appellate courts convene three times a year to hear oral arguments and to hold conferences, and are assigned cases for which to write opinions.

This is believed the first time there have been two appellate court judges from the First Judicial circuit.

James Whitlock Accidentally Shot in Thigh

James William Whitlock of 823 North Jackson was shot accidentally through the thigh yesterday, a .22 calibre slug from a rifle nearly penetrating the leg.

Chief of Police Ross Lane, who warned against shooting of rifles in areas near the city limits, said Whitlock was shot by Bertis Dale Feazel. Both are of high school age, he stated.

The two were in an area north of the Trammel building, Lane was told, when the rifle went off as Feazel let the bolt down on a bolt-action rifle. The slug hit Whitlock, who was about 30 feet ahead of Feazel.

Lane said he had been receiving reports of boys shooting rifles at the edge of town, that any caught would be fined, as city police have jurisdiction in matters of public safety in areas near the city limits.

In his decision he first discussed rights Girard would have if his prosecution were to take place in a state court.

His Lawyers Jubilant
"Applying the same constitutional protection to Girard against his delivery to a foreign state that would be applied to his delivery for prosecution in a state court, it follows that the threatened action by government officials is illegal and in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States," the decision said.

Dayton Harrington, Girard's Washington attorney, was jubilant at McGarraghy's decision.

"This is exactly what we hoped for," Harrington told reporters. "This turns him over to the Army for trial by court-martial."

McGarraghy detailed the circumstances of the incident in which Girard allegedly killed a Japanese woman on a firing range, and discussed the agreements with Japan under which the government proposed to turn him over to Japan for trial. He said the question was not whether Girard would receive a fair trial by the Japanese.

The legal question could be decided on the conceded fact that the incident "arose out of an act or omission done by (Girard) as a member of the American armed forces in performance of official duty."

"Since Girard's act was committed in the performance of official duty . . . Girard is accountable only to United States federal jurisdiction for any act or omission," the opinion said.

Two Fires Caused By Lightning

Lightning caused two fires at homes in Harrisburg yesterday afternoon.

At 2:10 p. m. a run was made to the home of Logan Milligan where lightning hit a television antenna and ran down the lead in to a sill, which caught fire. A second run was made to this residence when the fire broke out.

At 3:10 p. m. the fire department went to the Robert Rumsey home in Dorris Heights, where lightning hit a chimney and burned a hole in the roof.

Bloodmobile in County June 20-21; Urgent Appeal

Coinciding with the visit of the Bloodmobile here next Thursday and Friday, the Red Cross St. Louis Regional Blood Center has issued an urgent appeal to all RH negative donors, asking them to make a special effort to give blood, since the Center's RH negative supply is completely exhausted.

This additional emergency, coupled with cancelled Bloodmobile visits to communities stricken by flood waters, lends a special urgency to the forthcoming Bloodmobile visit, and an appeal was made for the cooperation of all donors in the county by county Blood Program chairman, Russell Malan and Carrier Mills chairman James Thornton.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Masonic temple in Carrier Mills Thursday, June 20, from 12 noon until 6 p. m., and at the Harrisburg Elks club Friday, June 21, during the same hours. The necessity for Saline county to fulfill its quota cannot be overemphasized during this emergency, Malan said, and he urged all donors to be sure and keep their appointments or send a replacement.

Illinois in Grip Of Heat Wave; 9 Flood Deaths

Typhoid Shots Urged in Flood-Ravaged Areas

By United Press

A heat wave gripped Illinois again today. The first break was expected in the northwest counties toward nightfall.

In flood-ravaged southwestern counties, residents were urged to get typhoid shots.

More drownings were reported as the hot weather persisted. Four occurred during the weekend and four more Monday.

The final count of Illinois weekend flood deaths stood at nine. Property damage ran into the millions and East St. Louis asked for federal disaster aid.

(Across the nation the death toll rose with the temperatures. A count showed 124 deaths due to disasters.)

Scattered thunderstorms rolled across the state during the night. Chicago had more than half an inch of rain.

Temperatures Monday rose to 96 in Chicago, tying a 70 year record, 95 at West Frankfort, 94 at Rockford, 93 at Vandalia and Moline, 92 at Peoria and 91 at Springfield.

South to Remain Hot
Cooler weather — dropping the temperature 10 degrees and bringing drier air — was expected to spread across northern Illinois through Wednesday. But southern sections will stay hot and humid.

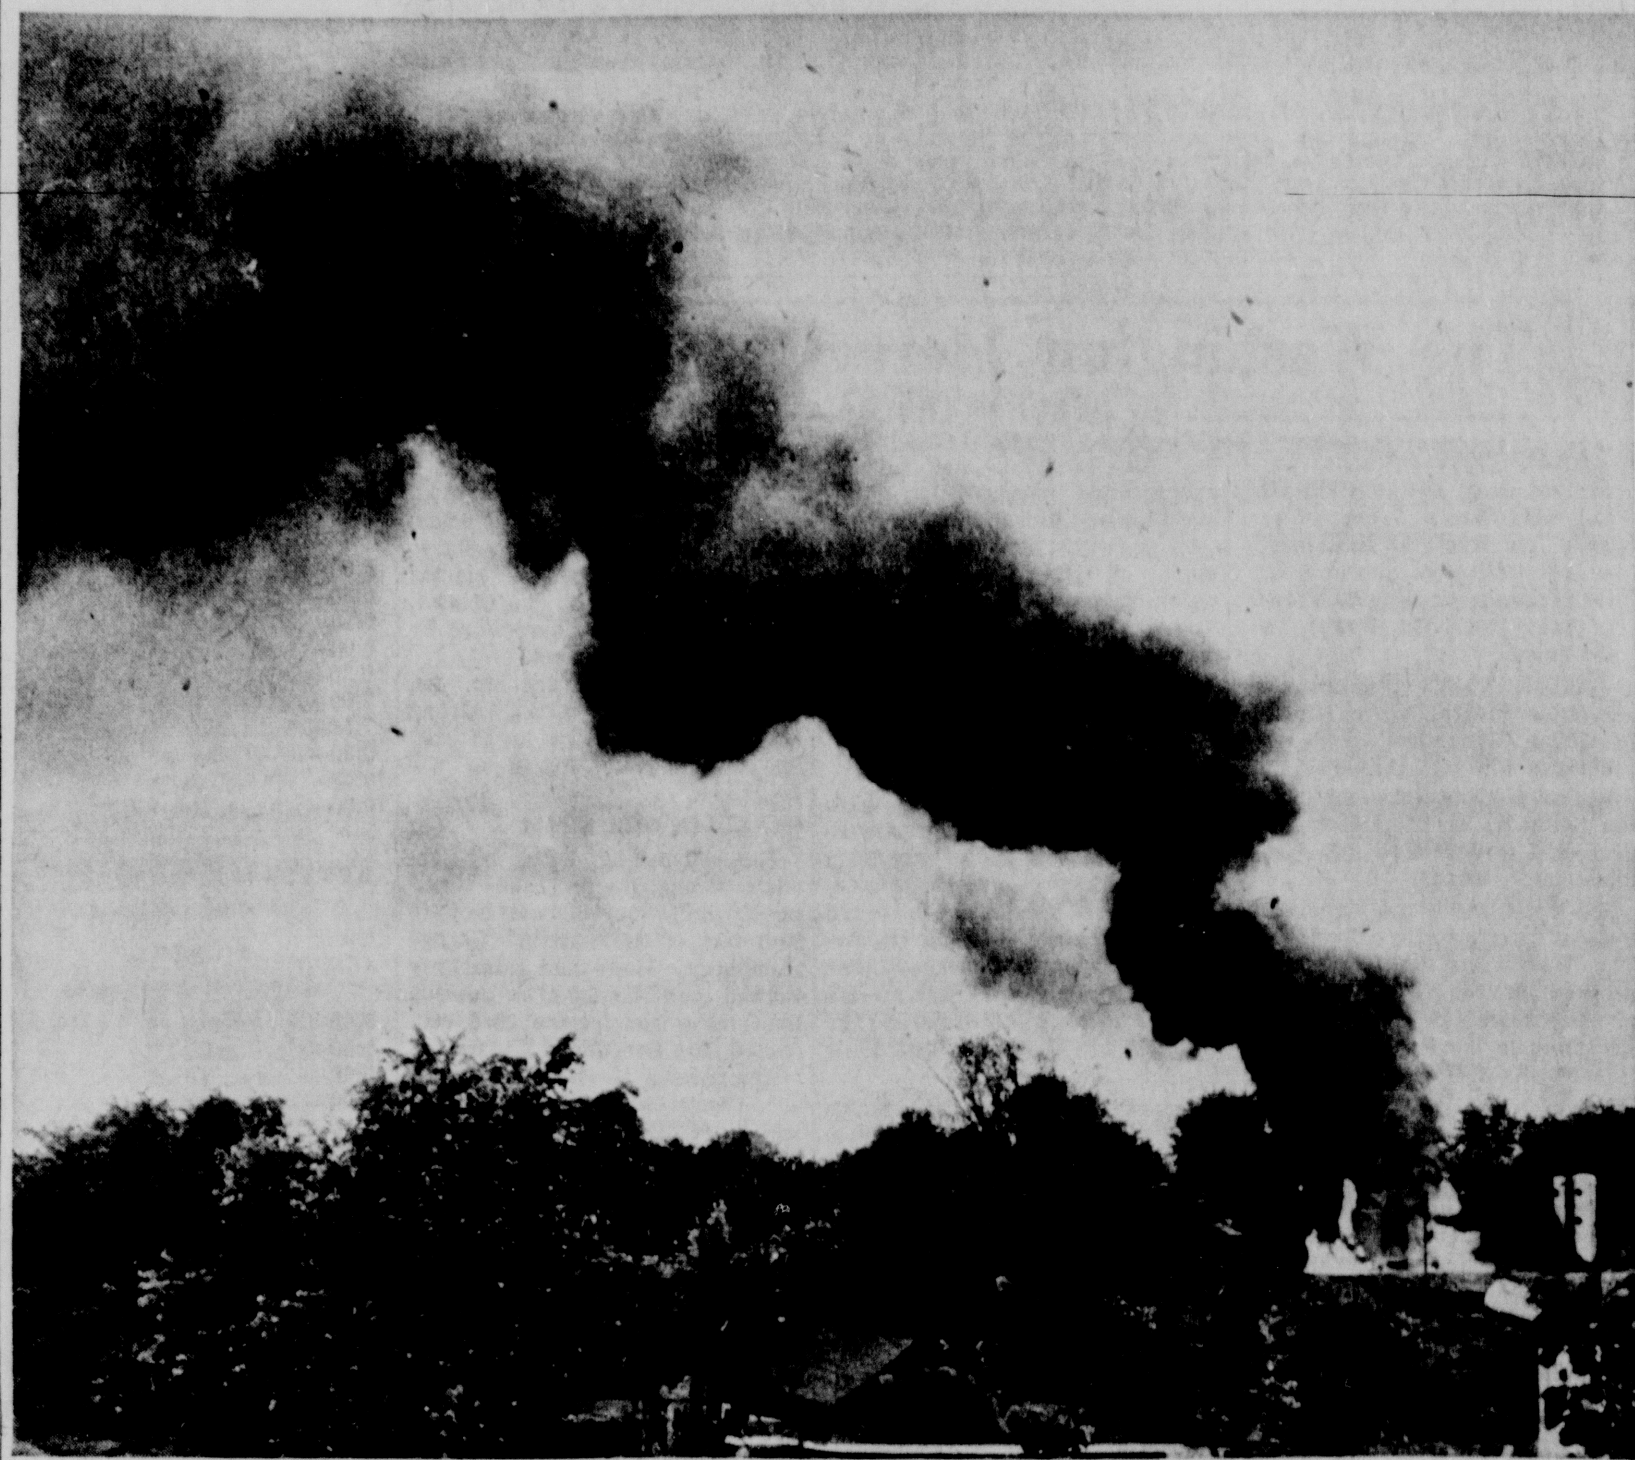

The forecasts called for readings in the 90s throughout the state today.

Typhoid immunization centers were being set up at Belleville, Collinsville, Duplo, Caseyville, O'Fallon, near the Fairmont race track and at Hillview in Greene county.

The heat wave Monday brought a heavy load on facilities of the Commonwealth Edison Co. serving Chicago and the surrounding area and normal 120 volt current was cut to 113 to meet the demand for electric power.

The 95-degree heat at West Frankfort caused a leak in a 200-gallon propane gas tank and traffic on Ill. 37 was re-routed for a short time.

Lightning Hits Battery of 6 Oil Tanks In Eldorado City Limits

OIL BURNS FROM REMAINING UPRIGHT STORAGE TANKS sending smoke over big area in Eldorado yesterday afternoon after lightning hit oil storage tank battery near high school. Three tanks were blown quite a distance by explosions and one of them can be seen in picture, more than 100 feet from where it had stood. The two tanks immediately to the right of the fire and smoke are heaters, which separate oil from water.

Three Blasted Into Air; Two Left Burning

Spectacular Incident During Storm Occurs In High School Area

Lightning yesterday afternoon struck a battery of six oil tanks in the Eldorado city limits, blasting three of the huge tanks in all directions, knocking the top off the fourth tank and leaving the remaining two burning in an intense flame which sent rolling black smoke over the northeast part of the city.

The spectacular incident occurred around 2 p. m., sending hundreds of automobiles to the area near the high school during an afternoon rainstorm that brought 1.80 inches of rain (compared with .98 inch in Harrisburg) to the town in a short time, flooding streets, and cutting off power in the city for about two hours.

Struck was a battery of six 210-barrel storage tanks about 250 feet back of the Dr. Neva Skelton and Andy Ego homes on Illinois avenue in the Eldorado high school area.

Windows Blown Out
These tanks stored oil from the King-Stevenson Mahoney No. 1, about 200 feet south of the battery, and from the King-Stevenson Pearce No. 1, which is about 300 feet to the east.

Window panes in structures throughout the area were blown out by the blast, as far as the Silas Overton home two blocks to the north, where eight windows were broken. At the high school, about a block away, at least 26 windows were blown out, including one circular window glass.

One of the tanks was blown about 75 to 100 feet to the north, one 100-150 feet to the south and the third 100-150 feet to the southwest. Pieces from the three flew far in all directions.

Pipe Pierces Roof
One piece of two-inch pipe, seven feet long, pierced the roof of the home of William Searles more than a block away. A three inch pipe section 12 feet long was blown 800 feet farther to the south. A chunk of metal was blown 200 yards north into the back yard of the Kenneth Cox home.

Dr. James H. Johnson, Eldorado veterinarian who lives across from the Pearce hospital and about 500 yards across a field from the tank battery, said he was sitting at a table on his enclosed back porch, waiting for the rain to stop, when the tanks blew up.

"I was reading a paper when there was a big streak of lightning and about that time I felt heat hit my face," he said. "Then I heard

The fire spread quickly, burning the house to a shell and destroying the contents.

Hit Drive Against Communists

Court Rulings Alarm Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's drive against Communists and fellow travelers faltered today against more sweeping new restrictions laid down by the Supreme Court.

Alarm was expressed in some quarters of Congress that the court had gone too far. Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee accused the justices of "undermining our existing barriers against Communist subversion."

The court Monday handed both the government and Congress these sharp setbacks in their anti-subversive campaigns.

—It freed five of 14 California Communists convicted of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government and ordered new trials for the other nine. In doing so, it held that the Smith Act, the government's main weapon in prosecuting Communists, does not prohibit "teaching of forcible overthrow as an abstract principle, divorced from any effort to instigate action to that end."

Contempt Conviction Upset
—It dismissed the contempt of Congress conviction of Illinois labor leader John T. Watkins who refused to name persons he had known to be in the Communist movement. In doing so it held that henceforth witnesses before congressional committees are with in their rights in refusing to answer questions unless the committees establish the pertinency of the questions.

—It set aside the loyalty firing of veteran diplomat John Stewart Service. The court did not rule on the loyalty question but based its decision on what it called procedural flaws by then Secretary of State Dean Acheson in firing Service.

These decisions plus an earlier one that the government must provide defendants in criminal cases with certain material from hitherto secret FBI files, hit hardest at the drive against Communists.

Others handed down earlier this term also slowed it down.

Monday's decisions brought renewed attacks on the court from some congressmen. Eastland, joined in his statement by Sen. William E. Jenner, ranking Republican member of the Internal Security Subcommittee, said:

"Unless the Congress and the people call a halt to the boundless assumption of power which the Supreme Court has now undertaken, our liberties will be very much jeopardized in the years ahead."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said the court had "leaned over backward" to impede the work of his group with its decision granting congressional witnesses wider latitude for refusing to answer questions.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.) said "the whole trend of recent Supreme Court decisions" has been toward "weakening the internal security of this country."

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said that "what this country needs most today is a Supreme Court of lawyers with a reasonable amount of common sense."

He said surveys of rural areas, where many barns costing in the thousands of dollars each and other farm buildings have been destroyed, and where there have been countless losses that will run into the hundreds of dollars, gave him reason to believe that wind damage has been a quarter of a millions dollars.

Only thing benefiting from the excessive rains have been pastures.

Mr. Kimmel said that rains had prevented at least 75 per cent of the corn to be planted, at least until yesterday. On Saturday, Sunday, and Monday farmers were seen busy plowing in an effort to get in their corn crops although, he stated, some were working wet ground.

Then rains came yesterday afternoon to throw back further the corn-planting effort.

"If the rains would quit, it would give the farmers a chance to plant through June, but after that corn planting will be a gamble," he stated. "A year like last year, when the killing frosts came late, would be all right for late planting, but you cannot depend on killing frosts coming late in October."

He said if farmers could get ten days of good, dry weather they could get in their corn planting.

Planting of soybeans, he said, can be held off all right until early July.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Canadians May Divert Part Of Columbia River From USA; They Are Iked At Eisenhower Administration Slowness In Cooperating; Under 1909 Treaty They Have The Power To Do This.

WASHINGTON — The new Conservative government of Canada is going to present some real problems for the United States. The first may be the diversion of the Columbia river in Canada so part of it doesn't flow into Washington and Oregon.

The Columbia is the biggest single source of electric power in the Far West, and the Canadians propose to tunnel their portion of this water off through British Columbia to the Pacific ocean before it gets to the American border.

In ebb seasons this might leave the giant Grand Coulee dam in Washington looking about as empty as a Mexican bullfighting ring on a Monday morning. In the flood season it wouldn't affect American power from the Columbia. However, it would seriously stunt the development of northwest power in the future.

There are three reasons for American concern:

1. Under a treaty which we forced on Canada in 1909, each country has "exclusive jurisdiction and control over the use and diversion, whether temporary or permanent, of all water on its side of the line." Thus Canada can divert the Columbia and we can't do a thing about it except howl.

2. The administration has been so slow about discussing joint plans for control of the Columbia that the Canadians had already appropriated $250,000 to study the diversion tunnel.

3. It was the Liberal government of Premier St. Laurent which soft-pedaled the Conservative British Columbia provincial government from diverting the Columbia. Now the pro-American Liberals are out and the Conservatives are in power.

IKE'S MAN GOES SLOW

Part of the problem has been the vigorous opposition of American private utilities to supplying more water power to government dams at Bonneville and Grand Coulee. Built during the Roosevelt administration, these dams have been fought by the private utilities every inch of the way. The battle is now continuing over Hells Canyon.

Canada and the United States were supposed to get together to regulate the Canadian flow of the Columbia, so as to get more use of the spring floods which hurtle down to the sea when Canadian snows melt in the Rockies. But more water in the Columbia would mean more electricity for government power projects on the Columbia; so the private utilities have used their influence with the Eisenhower administration to hold back.

This was behind Ike's appointment of ex-Gov. Len Jordan of Idaho to the International Joint Commission which deals with water regulation between the United States and Canada. Jordan is a staunch opponent of public power and a staunch friend of the private utilities. He has even made speech after speech attacking Bonneville Dam, considered by most people as a great boon to northwest industry.

"Having him in charge of our negotiations," comments Sen. Richard Neuberger (D., Ore.), "is like having a mountain lion guard a herd of sheep."

As a result of American dilly-dallying, the Canadian delegate on the International Joint Commission, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, persuaded Parliament to appropriate $250,000 to study the diversion tunnel to divert Columbia river water under part of the Rockies over to the Fraser river, which flows into the Pacific.

This would be a boon to British Columbia industry, now growing by leaps and bounds. It has been demanding more power.

And the provincial government of British Columbia, the Social Credit Party which is actually to the right of the newly elected Conservative Party in Ottawa, has been held back heretofore by the Liberal government.

Now the Liberals are out. So, with feeling running strong against the U. S. A., a lot of trouble could develop for us on the Columbia.

CANADIAN ORE TEAM

The astonishing defeat of Canada's strong man, Trade Minister C. D. Howe, will be a blow to Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. Howe and Humphrey worked hand-in-glove to develop Labrador's iron for the U. S.-controlled Iron Ore Co. of Canada.

Humphrey's M. A. Hanna Co. is a co-owner of Iron Ore of Canada, and the C. D. Howe Co. was an engineering consultant to the operation. Howe, himself, has no direct interest in this concern, but members of his family are large stockholders.

Another place where the interests of Howe and Humphrey came together was in Algoma Steel, in which M. A. Hanna has a substantial interest. Howe was trustee of the estate of Sir James Dunn, a large stockholder in Algoma Steel.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Two appointees of the Senate Government Operations Committee who owed their jobs to the late Senator McCarthy wrote the resolution offering condolences to his widow and praising McCarthy. They are Richard O'Melia and Anne Grichas. Only member of the committee who would not sign was Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. She said, "I am certainly willing to offer condolences to the senator's widow, but I will not put my name to a eulogy of him. That would make me appear a hypocrite, since I voted for the censure resolution." . . . Republican congressmen whisper that President Eisenhower is slipping in popularity. They base it on the increasing anti-Eisenhower mail that floods their offices . . . Congressman Frank Bow (R., Ohio) even took his own poll. He sent out 85,000 questionnaires to voters in his district who cast their ballots for Ike two to one last year. Of the 25,000 replies he got back, one of every five said

Watering Lawns Can Be Confusing Matter

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — (U.P.) — Residents here could be a little confused when it comes to watering their lawns.

City commissioners decreed lawn sprinkling could be done only between certain hours and then by half the town at one time.

Then it was decided to permit employed couples to do their sprinkling in the evening — upon approval of a special application.

The latest concession was to homeowners with newly sodded or newly seeded lawns. They, too, get special privileges if their applications are approved.

However, an inspector must personally check on all such applications. More than 200 applications came in the first day, and he was able to check only 20.

Mao Launches New 'Soft Line' In Red China

TOKYO (UP)—Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung, in a complete break with the hard-fisted line of Josef Stalin, has called for a new soft line of "persuasion" to end resistance to the Communist regime in China.

The new Communist ideology, outlined by Mao in a secret speech Feb. 27, was broadcast today by Peiping Radio. The 17,000-word speech said many conflicts still exist in Red China between the masses and the Communist dictatorship.

The speech admitted for the first time that the Hungarian uprising had created widespread unrest in Red China and it raised the possibility that it may have been a major factor in the new reform wave launched by Mao.

His speech triggered a series of far-reaching reforms including encouragement of criticism in books and magazines, the lifting of the ban on certain plays, a purge of low-level Red officials, approval of certain types of strikes, and admissions of errors in Peiping's five-year economic and construction plan.

In dealing with the Hungarian uprising he made an oblique attack on Russia for its stern handling of the uprising. However he said the wide-scale "antagonism" practiced by Russia in Hungary was necessary because of the widespread domestic and foreign counter-revolutionaries.

Arthur Miller To Ask Reversal Contempt Case

WASHINGTON (UP)—Playwright Arthur Miller will ask that his conviction for contempt of Congress be reversed in the light of a new Supreme Court ruling in a similar case.

The high court Monday threw out the contempt conviction of Illinois labor leader John T. Watkins in a 6-1 decision. Watkins, like Miller, freely admitted to congressional investigators his own past links to Communism but refused to name others he knew to be involved in the Communist movement.

Sources close to Miller, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, said the playwright's attorney would cite the Watkins decision in asking District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin to reverse Miller's conviction. Miller now is free on $1,000 bond awaiting sentencing.

In the Watkins case, the Supreme Court held that witnesses are within their rights in refusing to answer the questions of a congressional committee unless the committee:

—Spells out the purpose of its investigation.

—The witness' connection with that investigation.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

A violin must have a player and an instrumentalist must have an instrument. Even a singer must have a musical instrument within his body. Without the combination of a cello and a cellist there will be no cello music.

We humans are very much like instruments. We need to have an artist touch our lives or there will be no music come from our souls. Without the Master our lives lack the power of sympathy and love. Without God to play upon us there will be no concert.

We differ from material instruments in that we can decide who is to produce the effect of our souls. We can turn to God or to other people with all their faults. Let us have God for the artist so that our lives may be worth while.

Social Security to Release Disability Checks in August

More than one hundred thousand severely disabled people in communities all over the nation will receive their first social security disability insurance checks in August, E. Bishop Hill, district manager of the Harrisburg social security office announced today.

But many other eligible disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age, some of them no doubt living in this area, have so far failed to make application to their social security offices. Those who have been disabled for work for a long time must apply before June 30. Mr. Hill pointed out, or they will lose their rights to these new benefit payments.

Any severely disabled person who has worked under social security for at least 5 years and who has been disabled for 6 months or more should get in touch with his social security office right away, the social security district manager said.

Lots of Misunderstanding

If he is between 50 and 65 years of age, he may be eligible for monthly disability insurance benefits. If he is under 50, he may be eligible to have his social security record frozen to protect his future right to disability payments, and also his and his family's rights to old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

"Unfortunately there is a lot of misunderstanding," Mr. Hill said, "as to how disabled a worker has to be to get social security disability insurance benefits or to have his social security record frozen. The rules in the social security law for deciding whether a person is 'disabled' are different from the rules in some other government and private disability programs."

To be found "disabled" under the social security law, he said, a worker must have a disability which, in the words of the law, makes him unable "to engage in any substantial gainful activity." It must be the kind of physical or mental condition which shows up in the medical evidence, including his doctor's report, hospital reports, or special tests. It must have lasted for at least 6 months and be expected to continue for a long and indefinite time.

In general, he said, "substantial gainful activity" means the performance of a substantial amount of work with reasonable regularity in employment or self-employment. A person does not have to be completely helpless to qualify under the social security disability provisions, Mr. Hill emphasized. Consideration is given to all of the facts in the individual's situation both medical and non-medical.

First consideration is, of course, given to the severity of his condition as shown by the medical evidence. This evidence must show that the person has a condition which makes him unable to perform significant functions such as moving about, handling objects, hearing, speaking, understanding, or reasoning, so that he cannot with his training, education and work experience engage in any kind of substantial gainful activity.

Examples of some impairments which would ordinarily be considered severe enough to prevent substantial gainful activity are:

1. Loss of two limbs.
2. Progressive disease which has resulted in the physical loss or atrophy of a limb; such as, diabetes, multiple sclerosis, or Buerger's disease.
3. Disease of heart, lungs or blood vessels which has resulted in major loss of heart or lung reserve as evidenced by x-ray, electrocardiogram or other objective findings so that, despite medical treatment, it produces breathlessness, pain or fatigue on slight exertion, such as walking several blocks, using public transportation or doing small chores.
4. Cancer, which is inoperable and progressive.
5. Damage to the brain or brain abnormality which has resulted in severe loss of judgment, intellect, orientation or memory.
6. Mental disease (e. g., psychosis or severe psychoneurosis) requiring continued institutionalization or constant supervision of the affected individual.
7. Loss or diminution of vision to the extent that the affected individual has central visual acuity of no better than 20/200 in the better eye after best correction, or has an equivalent concentric contraction of his visual fields.
8. Permanent and total loss of speech.
9. Total deafness uncorrectable by a hearing aid.

Mr. Hill said most individuals with such serious disabilities are unable to work. There are cases, however, where a person with such a severe disability is working, or able to work, because of his special knowledge and skills. He would not be entitled to benefits, the district manager said, because he would be able to engage in substantial gainful activity.

A person might work occasionally or intentionally and this would not necessarily mean that he was able to engage in substantial gainful activity. Both the nature of the work and the amount of money he earned would have to be considered.

On the other hand, some persons with conditions somewhat less severe than the ones listed above might be found unable to engage in substantial gainful activity because of the actual facts in their cases. If a person's condition coupled with his work background his lack of education training and other physical and mental resources does in fact prevent him from working, he would have a disability which prevents him from engaging in substantial gainful activity, and would therefore be found eligible under the social security disability provisions.

Vince Martinez Wins Decision Over Kid Gavilan

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) — Welterweight contender Vince Martinez, who beat ex-champion Kid Gavilan again Monday night, expects to fight Peter Waterman, British champion, at Newark, N. J., in July.

Sixth-ranking Martinez of Paterson, N. J., said today, "I want a shot at Carmen Basilio's world title, but if I can't have it I'll fight the British champ."

Manager Bill Daly said he would wait until Basilio had definitely signed to challenge Sugar Ray Robinson for the middleweight title or had agreed to defend the welter crown against Gaspar Ortega of Mexico, before accepting the Waterman fight.

Humphrey Defends Tight Money Policy as Block To New Round Of Inflation

Secretary is First Witness in Probe of Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey today defended the administration's so-called tight money policy as the only practical way to block "a new round of inflation."

But he conceded that, despite this policy, "the threat of renewed inflation . . . is perhaps our most serious domestic economic problem." Price increases, particularly in the past year, have been "more than I like to see," he said.

Humphrey was the first witness at the opening of a broad investigation of the Eisenhower administration's economic and money policies by the Senate Finance Committee.

He testified before a committee including some Democratic members who have charged that the tight money policy, with accompanying spiraling interest rates, has retarded economic expansion. These Democrats also contend that consumers and small business have been hurt with the major benefits going to big money interests.

Humphrey listed six alternatives to the tight money policy—credit controls, compulsory saving, price and wage controls, higher taxes, voluntary restraints and a return to federal reserve support of the government bond market.

"The use of any of the first three alternatives in peacetime would have been inequitable, impractical and inconsistent with our traditions of freedom," Humphrey said.

Higher taxes "would not have been acceptable," he said.

Voluntary restraints on price and wage increases, he said, "can help immeasurably but can be achieved only if other policies are effective."

"Thus, as a practical matter, the real choice is between the anti-inflationary course which we have pursued and a new round of inflation," Humphrey said.

Two Priests and Church Janitor Burned in Blast

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — Churchmen today prayed for the lives of two Roman Catholic priests and a church janitor who suffered burns over 90 per cent of their bodies in a gas explosion Monday night. A third priest was injured slightly. The accident occurred at Munjor, Kan., a tiny community eight miles southeast of Hays. Father Cornelius Heim, 41, Leoville, Kan., Father Brice Schratz, 44, Pittsburgh, Pa., and church janitor Ted Pfannenstiel were reported in "extremely critical" condition at St. Anthony Hospital.

They and three other priests from the St. Joseph Military Academy in Hays drove to Munjor in a truck to remove the host from the St. Francis Church after the little community was abandoned in the face of floodwaters.

The explosion occurred when the three men entered a flood-damaged, abandoned convent. Father Ansel Martini, who did not enter the building was slightly burned when the flames licked through the door.

Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) opened the investigation with a statement that world confidence in the American dollar is the chief restraint on Russian aggression.

Humphrey struck back at Democratic critics with a charge that they are, "whether unwittingly or by intention, inflationists."

"Their proposals for further credit expansion are proposals to further reduce the purchasing power of the dollar, to rob every worker, every farmer, every pensioner, every wage earner and every family with savings," he said.

Flood Picture Brightens in Southern Illinois

MARION, Ill. (AP) — The flood picture in southern Illinois brightened today with the drop of levels of creeks and rivers.

The Kaskaskia River dropped two feet overnight in hard-hit Fayette County. Some 40,000 acres of rich farmland are still under water and in some places the water is 10 feet deep. At least 50,000 acres were under water at the height of the flood.

Flood waters poured over a two-mile stretch of U. S. 51 south of Vandalia Monday night, limiting traffic to one lane.

The Little Wabash River and the Salt and Bishop creeks have returned to their banks in Effingham County and water which flooded about 10,000 acres has quickly drained.

The flood crisis is over at Mt. Carmel where the Wabash River crested Monday night below flood stage and has dropped three inches.

New Law to Regulate Installment Plan Sales In Effect July 1

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A new law to regulate installment plan sales and protect the buyer will go into effect July 1.

Gov. William G. Stratton signed the measure into law Monday. It requires that there be a written contract covering all installment plan sales and that the contract spell out interest rates, collection charges and other factors involved in the sale.

Court Approves $34,260 Bid for Hodge's Lake Home

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Circuit Court approved sale of Orville E. Hodge's Lake Springfield home to Theophilus C. Ponting for $34,260. Ponting is former assistant state treasurer under Warren E. Wright and now works as a $500 a month informational representative for the state division of industrial planning and development.

His bid was the highest of nine entered on the property and was approved by the court late Monday.

The money realized from sale of the home will be turned over to the state as partial restitution for Hodge's embezzlement of state funds.

Lightning Hits Oil Tanks at Eldorado

a loud whistling noise and looked out. I saw a red streak of flame coming out of the battery and then there was a big blast and lots of black smoke starting rolling up from the tanks.

Little Oil in Tanks

"Then I saw one of the big storage tanks coming down from out of the air, where it had been blown, and hit the ground."

He said that he believed there were two blasts close together and added that the black smoke started rolling up so fast that little could be seen for quite a while."

Also seeing the explosion was Mrs. J. Ward Barnes, who was inside the high school with her husband, the assistant principal. Mr. Barnes said they both felt the heat from the blast inside the school building.

A. M. Middleton, who completed the Mahoney and Pearce wells and who now is production manager for John Stelle Associates, estimated there was very little oil in the tanks.

Mr. Middleton estimated that the three tanks which were blown a distance were empty and that the one from which the top was blown either was empty or almost empty.

The two standing intact and were still burning last night contained the crude oil, but Mr. Middleton estimated they were not full. Two tall heaters, which separate oil from water, stood in the tank battery area. Mr. Middleton said he believed they could be repaired without too much trouble.

Student Shoots His Mother In Belief She Was Burglar

CHICAGO (AP) — A young college student shot and critically wounded his mother today in what police said was the "tragically mistaken" belief she was a burglar.

Mrs. Margaret T. Klorig, 56, was described in critical condition at St. Anne's hospital with a .22 caliber bullet wound in her chest.

Her son, William, 20, an Illinois Institute of Technology junior, said he fired at his mother when she went to a rear porch to close a window during an early morning thunderstorm. The Klorig home had been the target of several burglary attempts recently.

Authorities said no charges will be filed against the boy, who was allowed to return home after police questioning. William was a member of the naval ROTC and guns were his hobby.

Republicans Force Passage of School Bill; Filibuster Continues

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Senate Republicans today forced final passage of the administration's 227-million-dollar school aid bill in an effort to end a Democratic filibuster over the bill.

But the strategy failed and the Democrats continued their stalling tactics.

The Republican leadership had the school bill called for passage, with the idea that once it was passed, the issue would be settled.

House Passes Four-Point Civil Rights Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today finally passed the administration's four-point civil rights bill after defeating a last gasp southern move to tack on the disputed jury trial amendment.

Passage came on a roll call vote of 286-126.

On final passage, 118 Democrats and 168 Republicans voted for the bill, while 107 Democrats and 19 Republicans voted against it.

The bill went immediately to the Senate, where backers were maneuvering to speed action on it by passing the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The bill would: —Create the bipartisan, six member federal commission with subpoena powers to investigate complaints that voting and other civil rights are being denied and to study legal developments affecting them. The presidentially appointed commission would function for slightly more than two years.

—Create a separate civil rights division in the Justice Department. —Authorize the government to seek Federal Court injunctions or other orders to prevent denial of voting and other civil rights. The suits would be started directly in federal courts without first going through state courts.

—Prohibit private individuals as well as officials from interfering or trying to interfere with the right to vote in any general, primary or special election in which federal officials are chosen.

Mrs. Harry Montgomery, Formerly of Raleigh Area, Dies at St. Louis

Mrs. Harry Montgomery, 78, of St. Louis, Mo., formerly of the Raleigh community where she was best known as Mrs. Rhoda Minner, died at the Missouri Baptist hospital in St. Louis, Monday. She was the mother of Paul Minner and Edna Minner of St. Louis and Mason Minner and Dayton Minner of Flagstaff, Arizona. Her husband, Harry Montgomery, of St. Louis, survives.

The body will be brought to Raleigh Wednesday and will lie in state in the home of her grand daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Whitlock and Mr. Whitlock. The funeral will be held in the Raleigh Baptist church Thursday at 11 a. m. and burial will be in the Masonic cemetery.

and the Democrats wouldn't have anything to filibuster about.

But Democratic leader Sen. William J. Lynch, Chicago, said the filibuster would go on since there was still a chance to either recall the bill or pass a bill now in the House which would increase the school aid appropriation.

The filibuster was started last week in an attempt to force an 11-million-dollar increase in the school aid bill.

Kill Truck Bill

The Democratic talkathon resulted in the Senate taking up more than an hour just to pass the school aid bill as Democrats ate up time debating the bill and then took the five minutes allowed each member to explain his vote.

The bill finally was passed, 53-0, as members of both parties wanted to be recorded in favor of aid to schools.

The House, meanwhile, killed a bill that would have banned trucks from state highways from midnight on Saturdays to midnight on Sundays to "give the three million automobile owners in the state a break" or the highways. The bill would have exempted trucks carrying perishable commodities, Sunday newspapers and other items.

The filibuster got stormy Monday as Lynch heaved a book in the direction of Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman, tempers flared and the Senate was able to pass only one bill before adjourning.

Lynch was angry because Chapman, as Senate presiding officer, refused to recognize him to make a speech.

Tighten Control On Licensing Real Estate Brokers

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton today ordered his director of registration and education to tighten up enforcement of the law covering licensing of real estate brokers.

Stratton issued the directive to R&E director Vera M. Binks Monday after a conference with three members of the Illinois Real Estate Examining Committee who told the governor of alleged fraud in the licensing program.

All three members of the committee have resigned, two in protest of the changing of a grade on the examination of a license applicant.

The three were Frank A. Syms, Chicago, chairman of the committee, Paul J. Brown, Carbondale, vice chairman, and Percy E. Wagner, Oak Park.

Syms and Brown submitted resignations effective June 30. Wagner said he was resigning because of the press of other business.

But Syms said "we wanted to apprise the governor of what's going on. We don't want to continue on the committee while such practices are permitted to go on."

Increase Price Of Cigarettes

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans will pay a cent a pack more for non-filter tip cigarettes.

Five major tobacco companies raised whole prices 35 cents a thousand Monday, which works out to around 1 cent a pack at retail. The increases probably will be passed along to consumers.

The increases, announced by American Tobacco Co., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers, P. Lorillard & Co., and Philip Morris, do not affect filter tip brands made by these firms.

Entire New Wardrobe Being Designed For Queen Elizabeth's Visit to U. S.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II is having an entire new wardrobe designed for her American and Canadian visits next fall, for it is court etiquette that she must not appear in a foreign country in anything she has worn in public before.

So, while she has more clothes than ever before in her life as a result of visits already this year to Portugal, Denmark and France, she will soon be calling in her dressmakers, Norman Hartnell and Hardy Aimes, and her shoemaker, Edward Rayne, as well as milliners and lingerie makers.

Having decided the functions she will attend, the Queen explains her needs and sketches are prepared, several for each suggested outfit and sent to Buckingham Palace with small swatches of suitable material.

The Queen herself selects the sketch and the material she prefers. Occasionally she will ask Prince Phillips' advice, but not so often now as she did when they were first married.

Elizabeth's wide-shirted formal evening gowns are always most elaborately hand-embroidered with sequins, semi-precious stones and seed pearls in patterns Hartnell creates. The work takes several highly skilled girls as much as a month to complete and then the design is burned so there is no possibility of another dress being decorated in the same way.

The Queen's outfitters know the special rules of royal dressing which must be observed. The skirt is long and full enough to permit gracefully getting in and out of cars and carriages. The hems invisibly weighted so no sudden gust of wind causes embarrassment. The sleeves to be cut remembering the white gloves the Queen usually wears. The hats set well off the face so everyone can see the Queen's features clearly.

Handbags have straps so they can be quickly slipped up the arm when the Queen wants to use her hands. Colors are light so the Queen can be easily distinguished in a crowd.

Always a Black Outfit Fashion is borne in mind but it is not too slavishly followed. The Queen does not copy other women. She always chooses some clothes in blue, her favorite color and like most British women she is fond of patterned silks especially with a floral motif.

Whenever she is to make a public appearance, the Queen has two outfits available and choose according to the weather. She has suits especially treated to be her beautiful wild mink coat with her, a wedding present from Canada.

There is a complete black outfit in the wardrobe wherever she goes although she rarely wears it. It is taken primarily in case news of death in the royal family should reach the Queen while she is abroad.

It will be recalled that she was on holiday in East Africa when George VI died and she became Queen. She was called back the same day and arrived at London airport in black because the mourning costume had been in her luggage always.

No Disaster Aid For East St. Louis-Bellefonte Flood Areas

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton's office today reported federal civil defense officials have decided the East St. Louis-Bellefonte area, which has been hit by floods, does not require federal disaster aid.

East St. Louis Mayor Alvin Fields had asked Stratton to declare his city a disaster area and thus qualify for federal disaster aid.

Dodger Rookie Strikes Out
11 in First Appearance
In 7-2 Win Over the Reds

By United Press

The jubilant Brooklyn Dodgers felt something like a sweepstakes winner today, having collected on a "long shot" by the simple expedient of writing Danny McDevitt's name on a ticket.

They made out the ticket last Friday and it provided transportation for McDevitt from St. Paul to Brooklyn.

Who is this guy McDevitt?

That's a question even the Cincinnati Redlegs were asking today after the 25-year-old rookie southpaw, making his first big league appearance, with a 7-2 victory, struck out 11 of them Monday night and limited them to seven hits in pitching Brooklyn to within two games of the National League lead.

Bucs Beat Braves

In the only other game scheduled in the majors, Pittsburgh defeated league-leading Milwaukee 7-5. The Braves now lead the second-place Cardinals by one game.

McDevitt, called up by the Dodgers to take up some of the slack caused by the sidelining of Johnny Podres and Sandy Koufax, put on quite a show for the 14,595 fans at Crosley Field. Relying chiefly on a fast ball and sneaky curve, the sawed-off New York City native struck out at least one batter in every inning except the seventh and eighth.

McDevitt also drove in what proved to be the winning run with a nifty squeeze bunt during a three-run uprising against starter Johnny Klippstein in the second inning.

Alston Suspended,
Dodgers Also Lose
Podres and Koufax

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Walt Alston of Brooklyn was serving the second day of a three-day suspension but the Dodgers were far more concerned with the sidelining of their ace southpaw, Johnny Podres, who may be lost for several weeks.

Alston was notified of his suspension and a $75 fine arising from remarks he made to umpires Frank Secory and Bill Baker during the first game of a double-header against St. Louis Sunday. PeeWee Reese also was fined $50 for a run-in with Secory but he was not suspended.

Overshadowing the fines, however, was the news that both Podres and Sandy Koufax might be lost to the Dodgers for an indefinite period. Both pitchers underwent arm x-rays at Christ Hospital here Monday and the report on Podres was particularly discouraging.

Until Alston's suspension expires, coach Billy Herman will run the club.

field fence. Roy Campanella singled and Charley Neal drove him in with a triple. McDevitt then laid down his squeeze bunt to bring in Neal.

The Dodgers added three insurance runs on two hits in the ninth.

By losing, the Redlegs tumbled into fifth place, two percentage points behind Brooklyn.

Pittsburgh Rally Wins

Pittsburgh gained its victory over Milwaukee with a four-run rally in the ninth, featured by triples off the bats of Gene Freese and Bob Skinner.

With the Braves leading, 4-3, Freese, who collected four of Pittsburgh's 10 hits, tripled in the ninth and scored on Roman Mejias' pinch single. Mejias raced to third when Andy Pafko threw wildly to the plate and came home on Hank Foiles' bunt. Skinner then came through with his triple, scoring Foiles, and then scored himself on Paul Smith's bunt.

Reliever Bob Purkey was credited with the victory. Gene Baker homered for the Pirates.

The Braves rapped out 17 hits, including four by newly-acquired Red Schoendienst.

For the winners at bat Warmelink had two triples, Potter tripled and singled, and Betz hit safely twice. Darrar and Reed had the Cokes' only safeties.

Boyet and D. Woolard pitched a one-hitter as Galatia blanked Buena Vista, 8-0. Buchanan and Denny, fireball hurlers, gave up only three hits but walked 11 batters. J. Woolard had two singles and Hill had one for the winners, while Hefner garnered the losers' lone safety.

THE STORY: Dr. Garde Shelton is taking up his duties as "substitute doctor" in a clinic in Bayard, Mo. Dr. Kurt Lillard, the member of the clinic staff whom Garde is replacing, was convicted of murder.

VI
Garde retrieved his suit coat and his hat, then he went out to the central hall; he found Miss Evans, the Administrator, waiting there for him.

She was an efficient person, this Arline Evans, and she did her best to inform the new doctor on the things he surely would want to know.

"Are you married, Miss Evans?" he asked, as they went outside.

She glanced up. "Oh, no, doctor. I live with my mother and several younger brothers and a sister—on a farm five miles out of town."

"You don't look like a farm girl." "I hope I look like a hospital administrator."

"You do. Oh—watch it!"

He thrust her swiftly out of the path of the car that had swept, much too fast, from the street into the drive. It came to a bucking stop, and Garde strode toward it, pulled out the rear door to look at the child who lay upon the back seat, her face white where it wasn't covered with blood. He scooped the little girl into his arms and barely glanced at the half-hysterical mother. "You may come along," he said over his shoulder as he went back toward his office. Miss Evans assisted the mother, her clear voice urging her to be quiet, assuring her that the doctor would take care of her little girl.

It developed that the child, though knocked unconscious, was not badly hurt. Garde cleaned up the blood, applied cold packs to her swollen nose and soothed the wakening child's terror. He questioned the mother enough to determine that her daughter had been hurt in the school play yard; a swing's seatboard had struck her when another child had jumped out. . . . If she had come straight home at noon, this couldn't have happened. . . .

"She'll have a black eye, and her nose is swollen. It may bleed some more, but I think if you put an ice bag to her face she'll be all right. Give her an aspirin if she complains of pain."

When the child was on her feet, though still sobbing a little, Garde led her out to the car and installed her beside the mother.

"Do you want to see her again, doctor?" asked the woman in a puzzled tone.

"If it will make you feel better."

He turned away, his hand brushing off the stains on the front of his gray flannel jacket.

"Oh, doctor . . ." breathed Miss Evans, regretfully.

He walked beside her toward the hospital doors. "What do they call it?" he asked. "An occupational hazard?"

"Will that little girl be all right?" "Certainly, or I would have kept her here. The same thing happens all the time to little boys who stand too close to the batter in a ball game."

At the door, Miss Evans turned about to look at him oddly.

"What's the matter?" Garde asked.

"Oh—I was just thinking how different your methods were from Dr. Kurt's."

"And I gather that I suffer from the comparison."

She stiffened. "It isn't that, doctor! You did wonderfully with that child. I never saw anything so calm and sure."

"What would your Dr. Kurt have done? Panicked?" he asked Miss Evans.

"Oh, no. But, well, maybe he would have done everything you did. But he would have done the things differently. His approach was—he was very popular with the mothers, you know!"

"Yes," agreed the tall, dark man. "I do know. While my first concern is for the child."

His coat was ruined, but he seemed to have forgotten that it was stained at all. "I would like to talk to you a little," she said hesitantly, "about Dr. Kurt."

Miss Evans had clasped her hands tensely together, and now she leaned toward Dr. Shelton.

"He didn't do it!" she cried. Garde nodded. "I believe he said that, at the trial."

"Yes, of course. He pleaded innocent. He said he had not—killed—Ben. But they didn't believe him. The jury. The prosecuting attorney didn't believe it. He couldn't have. For he made so much of that old fight which Dr. Kurt had had with Ben Laurent. A thing that had happened five years before—but they kept bringing it up as if it proved he still wanted to hurt Ben, as if it proved he had killed him."

Dr. Flynn had mentioned that part of the testimony to Garde.

"That other time—oh, Ben had heckled Dr. Kurt, or something like that, and Dr. Kurt had given the boy a shaking. Ben was only 17 at the time. He was an awfully spoiled child, you see. His parents are rich, and his mother isn't well, and poor Ben—well, anyway, Kurt hadn't hurt him, and it was all five years before! It was as if they were trying Dr. Kurt for those things, which he admitted had occurred, and when he was found guilty of them, they just said it proved he was guilty. She gulped, and her nose got pink. "I'm sure he could have cleared himself! He could have told more than he did!"

"What do you mean? What could he have told?" "Oh, I don't know, doctor. But I do have a feeling that he could have cleared himself." (To Be Continued)

How Texas Eastern helps keep these teeth on edge

You'll find a well-tempered Disston saw always has its teeth on edge—always eager and able to cut with ease—thanks, in part, to Texas Eastern.

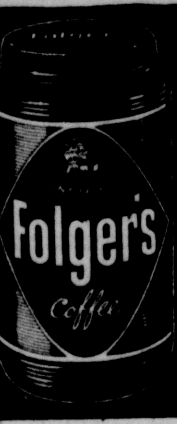

Texas Eastern transports natural gas from the Southwest via pipeline for use in the Philadelphia plant of the Henry Disston Division, H. K. Porter Company. Here, gas is used in an infinite variety of processes for tempering, hardening and rust-proofing steel for saw blades. Because the blades have to be processed at temperatures anywhere from exactly 250° to exactly 2500°F., natural gas is exactly the right fuel. Gas heat can be precisely controlled and holds temperature better.
